About the Journal

Motifs: A Peer Reviewed International Journal of English Studies aims at making a small beginning in sensitising our world lost amidst wires and meshes towards values and virtues that are not only eternal but also form the corner stone of our civilisation. Motifs, aims at providing a befitting platform to people engaged in English Studies to voice out their opinions based on thoroughly researched material. The journal aims at providing a common platform to a diligent pupil of English Language as well as Literature written all across the world either directly or in translation, to engage in a literary and academic debate, as well as to arrive at a well-informed and balanced conclusion that will be beneficial to the society. It will be the endeavour of the editorial board forever to create an academic ethos related to English Studies and place Literature at the centre of the society as well as the academia around the world as the old cliché says “Literature is the mirror of the society” and hence can never be redundant. Since past 12 years this Journal has given academicians and research scholars, a taste of research in English and aims to aspire them to track the global pulse of research in English Studies.
